LOCATION

IRELAND: Dublin

TARGET AUDIENCE

Teachers (primary, secondary, vocational, adult, etc.)

DESCRIPTION OF TRAINING

The course has been designed to help teachers with a B1+ or B2 level of English (according to the Common European Level of Reference for Languages - CEFR) to develop their communicative competence in English to allow them to interact with confidence in class and in everyday situations. The course offers a combination of English-focused classes, workshops and field projects through which participants will delve deep into the Irish culture and bring real life to the classroom context and vice versa. Participants will join in on field projects to places of historical, geographical, and environmental significance within the Irish heritage and way of life and use this as inspiration for creating learning content through context.

Objectives:

- To help participants improve their language skills, especially oral fluency, and enable them to incorporate English into classroom situations and daily life.
- To help participants develop awareness of a European Dimension in education as a meeting point for future participation in school partnerships and projects.

Methodology:

A communicative approach to language learning enhanced by using real contexts will help participants to develop their communicative skills in a very natural way.

Group and task-based activities, field projects and oral and written reports will enhance participants' learning experience. Participants are encouraged to interact with each other and develop their communication skills in English while at the same time exploring and becoming part of a European dimension in education. That is why they will be encouraged to share their experience and ideas with colleagues from a variety of schools around Europe.
